

4 POWERS CONDEMN SOVIET PROPOSAL, ATOMIC CONTROL

Outspoken Rejection Comes In A Joint Declaration

"WAR SPRINGBOARD"

Report Stresses "No Useful Purpose Served" By
Further Discussion

By Pierre J. Huss

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Mar. 29—(INS)—Four powers in the United Nations charged today that Russia's plan for atomic control offers an aggressor overwhelming military supremacy and a springboard to a secretly prepared atom war against the world.

The outspoken condemnation and rejection of the Soviet proposals for atomic control offered by Russia as a substitute for the vetoless Baruch plan came in a joint declaration at Lake Success from Britain, France,
China and Canada.

The startling conclusions of four of the eleven members of the U. N.
Atomic Energy Commission were read to this group by Richard Miles, British representative. The report of the four stressed that "no useful purpose can be served" by further discussion of the Soviet proposals.

U. S. representative Frederick Osborn is known to be heartily in agreement with the tone of the above conclusions. Since the beginning of discussions on the Russian scheme, submitted in June of 1947, Osborn has repeatedly branded
them as "fraudulent" and "unrealistic."

The four-nation report turned down as "completely unrealistic" the Russian demand that atomic weapons be destroyed and outlawed before a control agreement has been achieved.

In the resolution which suggests that the Soviet plan be tossed aside,
a summary giving the reasons for the negative attitude says that the Russian proposals "ignore the existing technical knowledge of the problem of atomic energy control,
do not provide an effective international control of atomic energy"

Easter Brings Flurries of Snow; Churches Filled

Easter, locally, as far as the weather was concerned, was a mixture of low temperature, alternately sunshiny and cloudy, with two flurries of snow in the early afternoon.

And while religious services here
were attended by large congregations,
for and other winter coats
were much in evidence. There was, however, goodly evidence of spring
finery, but this was confined mainly to hats and accessories, the crowds preferring to retain their winter
coats for comfort.

Edifices of worship were decked
with Easter lilies, hyacinths, azaleas, tulips, and other blossoms for the occasion; while choirs, soloists and congregations raised voice in praise for the Risen Redeemer.
Clergymen addressed large gatherings
in all churches here and in nearby communities.

A number of individuals, arising
early, attended Easter sunrise services,
either in churches or services
out of doors scheduled a few miles from here.

Temperatures here for the 24 hours ending at eight o'clock this morning, ranged from 36 to 24, the high being reached at eight yesterday morning at eight o'clock, and again a few hours later. The mercury stood at 24 this morning at six o'clock.

At the beginning of the 1948-49
school term, Hollis A. Lachat will become a member of Quakertown high school faculty. Lachat was,
from 1930 until 1941, a member of Doylestown high faculty.

He will succeed Jay Williams at Quakertown school. He will also teach pupils how to prepare radio script and the proper technique
in speaking before the microphone.
Lachat resigned as principal at Doylestown high several years ago
to take a position in industry.

A button deer was killed on the Doylestown War Memorial Field.
Friday morning, when it ran at high speed into a wire fence surrounding the field.

George McLaughlin, a member of the War Memorial Commission, in charge of the maintenance of the new field, was standing on the grounds at the time. He saw the frantic animal emerge from the underbrush on the West Court street side of the field, bordering
the Doylestown high athletic field.
The deer then headed straight for the open space ahead, but apparently did not see the fence.

The animal hit the fence so hard
that its neck was broken. Mr.
McLaughlin reported the accident
to Game Protector S. Earl Carpenter, Doylestown, who is making arrangements to give the animal to a nearby institution for food.

When members of Doylestown

FLEETWINGS EMPLOYEE

LANGHORNE, Mar. 29—Shortly after his daughter and son had left for "Pennsbury" to attend an Easter sunrise service, and as he and his wife prepared to eat breakfast,
Earl Lawrence Humphrey, 44, died suddenly in the dining room of his home yesterday. Death is attributed by the physician who was summoned
and by Bucks County Coroner
J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwells
Heights, to coronary occlusion.

The Humphrey home is at Bellevue and Prospect avenues, here. They have made their home in this community for the past 10 months.
Mr. Humphrey being assistant production superintendent at the Bristol
plant of Kaiser-Fleetwing, Inc.

Mr. Humphrey had been associated with the Kaiser Company for 15 years, starting at Boulder Dam,
then working at various dam sites
in the northwest. During World War II he was in charge of electrical fittings in ships built at Kaiser yards at San Francisco, Cal. After a period at Willow Run plant he

New Members Welcomed By The VFW Auxiliary

ANDALUSIA, Mar. 29—The Ladies' Auxiliary of V. F. W. Post No. 9198, held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Dedrick, Thursday evening. Mrs. Albert Snyder was in charge.

There were 22 members present. Two new members were welcomed, mothers of the young men for whom the post is named, Mrs. Louis Hartman and Mrs. George Bauer. The sons of these women gave their lives in World War II.

Mrs. Estelle Eickman, who has been a member of the Auxiliary since its organization but was unable to attend any meetings due to illness, made her first appearance at a session on Thursday evening.

It was announced that the auxiliary has donated some candy to the Veterans Hospital, Coatesville.

Refreshments were served.

INCONSISTENT TRUMAN

The inconsistency of President Truman has never been shown more clearly than in labor matters.

In the case of the railroad strike a year and a half ago, he recommended the most drastic approach to the labor problem ever seriously suggested by a high American official. He demanded that Congress authorize him to have the strikers drafted into the army where they could be forced back to work at the bayonet's point.

Yet he twice vetoed middle-of-the-road labor bills passed by Congress after long and careful study—and passed, incidentally, squarely in line with recommendations he had previously made. The first of these was the Case Bill of 1946, passed at a time when strikes were rocking the nation to its foundation. When he vetoed this Bill, all hopes for a labor legislation that year went out the window. Congress was unable to raise the two-thirds majority to override his veto.

The second labor bill he vetoed was the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947, which then became law because both the Republicans and the Democrats in Congress voted overwhelmingly to put it on the statute books anyway.

These matters are brought forcibly to mind by the fact that the President now has used the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the soft-coal walkout.

What he used is the injunction proceedings, by which the government can stave off for eighty days any strike which imperils national health and safety. The cooling-off period is intended to give the President and Congress, as well as the Federal labor agencies, time in which to adjust the differences between the strikers and management.

The interesting point is that the clause in question, as well as similar provisions in the Case Bill, were offered by the President as principal reasons why he vetoed both the proposed laws. In his veto messages, he largely accepted the argument of radical labor-bosses that they should be above the law—be beyond the power of courts to enjoin. He did not go so far as to say that all injunctions in labor disputes are "yellow-dog" injunctions—but he certainly implied as much.

MRS. CATHERINE SHERRY

Rites were held in St. Leo's R. C.
Church, Philadelphia, this morning,
for Mrs. Catherine Sherry, who died at her home on Disston street, Tacoma, on Thursday. Burial took place in St. Mark's Cemetery, here.

ryn Welsh; and a sister. The de-

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Easter week-end was sad and stormy in Palestine. Two large-scale Arab attacks on Jewish convoys on Saturday cost 70 Jewish lives. This was the severest Jewish reverse in the present hostilities.
On Easter Sunday there were 13 incidents, in which five Jews, three Arabs and two Britons were killed.
Dr. Judah L. Magnes, president of Hebrew University in Jerusalem,
and five of his associates supported President Truman's appeal for a Jewish Arab truce and the plan of a trusteeship.

Pope Pius, in his Easter address,
urged Catholics to become more active against the enemies of the Church. He did not refer to the Communists by name, but his address was regarded as a powerful political plea in respect to the coming elections in Italy.

More than 1,000 Yugoslav soldiers spent Easter morning parading and maneuvering on the plain adjoining the Western Allies' zone in Trieste.

In Moscow the papers of the Soviet Army and Navy accused Sweden's military commander of planning to build bases in Sweden
for United States planes and para-troops. These attacks came after similar accusations against the Norwegians. In Helsinki it was reported that President Paasikivi was drafting new instructions for Finland's delegation negotiating a treaty in Moscow.

In Warsaw, left-wing leaders of the Polish Peasant party were completing arrangements for amalgamation with the Communist-re-sponsored Peasant group.

A Russian note, published in the bulletin of the Soviet Embassy in Teheran, protested against alleged United States military activity in Iran.

In Rumania, early returns in the elections for the Assembly showed that 93 per cent of the voters supported the Communist Government.
The figures did not include the Bucharest vote.

In Greece, there was emphasis on the fact that the Government's charges of abduction of Greek children by the rebels had been brought before Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations.

Some countries outside the Soviet bloc were siding with the Communists in their opposition to the United States in the free press conference in Geneva. They held that the United States position was inconsistent.

In Nanking, President Chiang
Kai-shek indicated a policy of no further attempt to form any sort of coalition with the Communists. At the same time a compromise was reached that will permit the open-

REVIVE AN OLD SPANISH CUSTOM

An old Spanish Easter custom, brought to California by the early Mission Fathers, is revived in Los Angeles at the historic Plaza Mission. The Rev. Fidel Zapatero is shown blessing hundreds of children as they bring their animal pets to the patio for the colorful Easter ceremony. Cats, dogs and even canaries were brought by the youngsters. (International Soundphoto)

New Members Welcomed By The VFW Auxiliary

ANDALUSIA, Mar. 29—The Lad-
dies' Auxiliary of V. F. W. Post,
No. 9198, held a meeting at the home
of Mrs. Joseph Dedrick, Thursday evening. Mrs. Albert Snyder was in charge.

There were 22 members present.
Two new members were welcomed,
mothers of the young men for whom the post is named, Mrs. Louis Hartman and Mrs. George Bauer. The sons of these women gave their lives in World War II.

Mrs. Estelle Eickman, who has been a member of the Auxiliary
since its organization but was unable to attend any meetings due to illness, made her first appearance
at a session on Thursday evening.

It was announced that the auxiliary has donated some candy to the Veterans Hospital, Coatesville.
Refreshments were served.

INCONSISTENT TRUMAN

The inconsistency of President Truman has never been shown more clearly than in labor matters.

In the case of the railroad strike a year and a half ago, he recommended the most drastic approach to the labor problem ever seriously suggested by a high American official. He demanded that Congress authorize him to have the strikers drafted into the army where they could be forced back to work at the bayonet's point.

Yet he twice vetoed middle-of-the-road labor bills passed by Congress after long and careful study—and passed, incidentally,
squarely in line with recommendations he had previously made.

The first of these was the Case Bill of 1946, passed at a time when strikers were rocking the nation to its foundation. When he vetoed this Bill, all hopes for a labor legislation that year went out the window. Congress was unable to raise the two-thirds majority to override his veto.

The second labor bill he vetoed was the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947, which then became law because both the Republicans and the Democrats in Congress voted overwhelmingly to put it on the statute books anyway.

These matters are brought forcibly to mind by the fact that the President now has used the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the soft-coal walkout.

What he used is the injunction proceedings, by which the government can stave off for eighty days any strike which im-perils national health and safety. The cooling-off period is intended to give the President and Congress, as well as the Federal labor agencies, time in which to adjust the differences between the strikers and management.

The interesting point is that the clause in question, as well as similar provisions in the Case Bill, were offered by the President as principal reasons why he vetoed both the proposed laws.

In his veto messages, he largely accepted the argument of radical labor-bosses that they should be above the law—beyond the power of courts to enjoin. He did not go so far as to say that all injunctions in labor disputes are "yellow-dog"
injunctions—but he certainly implied as much.

LEASE BLDG. TO CARE FOR PUPIL INCREASE

Special Plans Outlined By Doylestown Board of School Directors

THE EASTBURN BLDG.

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 29—In order to care for the pupil population increase in Doylestown high school next term, the Doylestown board of school directors has made special plans.

John Rosenberger, president, was authorized to draw up a two-year lease for the second and third floors in the Eastern building,
which formerly quartered the Doylestown sub-station of the Pennsylvania State Police.

The two-year agreement will be entered into subject to an inspection by the Department of Public Education which must pass on the requirements for education facilities.

Dr. J. Leonard Halderman, supervising principal, said the East-burn building, which would comprise the leased portion, contains two rooms on the second and two rooms on the third floor.

He said the entire commercial department of the local high school could be housed in the building and that being located in the center of town on East Court street, between Printers' Lane and Pine street, would make it most accessible.

Dr. Halderman, who said many of the commercial boys and girls take practical office training with their academic class-room work, emphasized the need to relieve the congestion in the present school building.

ANOTHER HEARING PLANNED IN CASE

It Will Be Held by Orphans' Court Master On April 14th

ONE CLAIMANT ILL

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 29—Another hearing has been scheduled in the estate of Colonel John Mc-Kee, Negro veteran of the Civil War. It will be held on April 14
by an Orphans' Courtmaster.

The court's representative in the case, John Blessing, said yesterday
he visited one of the principal claimants, T. John McKee, a New York attorney, who identified himself as Colonel McKee's grandson, although he has not been known as a Negro.

The grandson, who is seriously ill in Lenox Hill Hospital in New York, told Blessing, the latter said, that he once lived at 1030 Lombard street, Colonel McKee's home and the home of his mother, Mrs. Abbie
A. T. Syphax. McKee was born

FIRE DAMAGES STATE STORE HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Blaze of Undetermined Origin Originated On the Basement Stairway

LOSS NOT HIGH

Expect To Be Open Tomorrow For Conduct of Business

Fire damaged the interior of the State Liquor Store, Mill street, Saturday night, as well as some of the contents. The damage to the property is estimated by Fire Chief Cliff-ford Hagerman as not exceeding $500.

The blaze was first seen by Mrs.
Martin J. Hopkins, 303 Mill street, opposite the State Store. As Mrs.
Hopkins stood in the door of the Pal Mar Cut Rate store of her husband, her attention was attracted by flames in the rear of the State Store, which she saw through the front door of the State Store.

The alarm was sounded at 9:37
and when the firemen arrived they saw the flames illuminating the interior. Neighbors had previously informed tenants of the four apartments above the State Store and also the store occupied by the Castanea Dairy adjoining. They vacated although not in immediate danger. The apartments are occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgan; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith;
Mrs. Minnie Vandegrift and Miss Edith Vandegrift; and Mrs. Walter
F. Leedom.

The firemen, upon arrival, broke through the front door with a heavy bar, and met with dense smoke and considerable heat. Chief Hagerman, seeking the location of the blaze became somewhat choked with smoke, and had to make his way out. The firemen, donning a new type of gas mask which generates its own oxygen, made their way into the building.

The blaze apparently originated midway down a stairway leading from the first floor to the basement,
where empty cartons had been tossed during a busy day before Easter. The flames had burned their way to the first floor and were spreading when discovered.

The fire being in the main business district attracted a large crowd of spectators. The Bucks County Rescue Squad arrived with an ambulance and an emergency lighting car. Bristol police and also the special police roped off an area,
and detoured traffic around the 300
block of Mill street.

The fire was brought under control in about an hour.

The actual damage done by fire
was small, it being confined principally to the stairway.

The store was not opened for business today, the cash register being out of commission due to being water soaked. It is planned to open for business tomorrow.

A number of cardboard cartons were soaked with water and this caused them to topple over and the contents of bottles were broken as they fell to the floor. The interior lighting system was somewhat damaged by water.

Rev. C. L. Dear is Heard At Life Service Banquet

With the Rev. Charles L. Dear as speaker, 79 individuals attending the fourth annual life service banquet in First Baptist Church social hall, Saturday evening, heard an address on "A Group of Men Whom
the Lord Had Touched."

The Rev. Mr. Dear, a former U.
S. Army chaplain, is now pastor of Crescentville Baptist Church, Philadelphia. He dwelt on service, sacrifice and surrender.

The banquet was sponsored by the Baptist Young People's Union, of which Miss Lois Loderbough is president. The dinner was prepared and served by women of the church.

Hung for the occasion was a large picture, done in pastels by Edward Plowman, a member of the BYPU, of "The Lord Overlooking the Ruined City."

Music for the evening included selections by a male quartet; concert solo by Carey Clark; and numbers by a young people's mixed quartet. The latter group included:
Miss Clara Bessinger, Miss Lois
Loderbough, Edward Plowman
and Paul Bessinger.

THE ARMY STAYS

The fact that the Russians want the American Army to get out of Berlin is the best possible reason for keeping it there. So the decision to continue the occupation indefinitely, instead of turning the task over to the State Department, is a welcome sign of a hard-boiled attitude toward the realities of the international situation.

Naturally, the Russians find the presence of American forces a handicap. Their press and radio, with peculiar frankness, are constantly saying as much. The Soviet regime, which is trying to grab everything in sight, would like nothing better than to obtain exclusive control of the heart of Germany.

Although there has been no thought in American, British and French circles of moving out of Berlin entirely, transfer of authority from the military to civilians, as had been proposed, would have seriously weakened the American position and this country's ability to keep Russian aggression from getting out of bounds.

The situation is bad enough as it is and the Soviet is doing everything in its power to make it worse—on the theory, apparently, that America will get sick of its job. But General Clay is not a man to tire easily. As military governor he has upheld American dignity and prestige on all occasions.

LEAVE US ALONE WEEK

Those business men in Douglas, Ga., who have endorsed a "Leave Us Alone Week" for April 1-8 may have started something big. It could easily have a mushroom growth and turn into a landslide sweeping everything in its wake.

There aren't many Americans who haven't felt, at moments, just as these Georgians do about all the "weeks" that promoters of causes have been perpetrating on the public. They say they are being "driven to bankruptcy by all the drives going on." They see "more money-raisers than customers" every day. They think "too many people are trying to take" them before Uncle Sam gets his every quarter.

Statistics on how many weeks have been set aside for this or that are not available, but the number must run above 52 when two and even three run concurrently, as they do sometimes. Many of the setter-asiders have good causes to forward, beyond any doubt, but the idea has been run into the ground by repetition and competition and the objects of all these efforts have been run ragged. The Douglasites have a legitimate complaint.

So a lot of others in the same boat would like to cooperate in a national "Leave Us Alone Week." It would be a welcome relief to have at least one week when no solicitors would call for a contribution and no organization would remind editors, for the sake of publicity, that this is national nothing-or-other week.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Dec. 9, 1897. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

About a week ago work was begun by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to erect a handsome new station at Morrisville, just above the present old building. The freight depot will be located two blocks above the passenger station beyond the coal yard.

The large signal bridge at the Walnut street crossing, spanning six of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's tracks, was erected in just three minutes this week. The work was done by a large hoisting engine placed on a covered flat car rigged up in Bristol especially for the erection of these bridges for automatic signals, of which there will be a large number placed between Holmesburg junction and Monmouth junction. The average distance apart will be about 5/8 of a mile. They will do away with 12 signal stations and 24 telegraph operators between these points. It is expected that the operators will be dispensed with at Wheatshaf, Tyburn, Cold Spring or Landreth's, Croydon and Torresdale.

At the regular meeting of Tullytown borough council held on last Monday evening, a vote was taken on the bridge ordinance, allowing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to erect a high wagon bridge over the tracks at Tullytown, about 20 feet north of the present station. The ordinance was passed by just a two-thirds vote. The ayes were John Burton, president; A. R. Wagonknight, John Carmen, William H. Dunk, Charles Carlen, Henry Lovett. The nays, Dr. C. H. Read, Dr. William Tallman and William Barrett. The ordinance has been handed to A. Brock Shoemaker the burgess, for his signature.

A team of mules, belonging to the Lehigh Coal and Navigator Company, which was attached to a boat in charge of Capt. John Stone, while coming down the canal near Erwinn on last Thursday evening, became frightened and jumped into the canal and was drowned.

(Following items from Gazette of Dec. 16, 1897.)

At the meeting of the Newportville Horse Company, held yesterday, the following officers were chosen: President James W. Rogers; secretary, J. H. LaDue; directors, James W. Rogers, Watson Davis, Howard K. Tomlinson, Dr. James Patterson and Harvey S. Tue.

Charles R. Thompson is constructing a bicycle track upon his premises on Bath street for the practice of beginners.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 9, the members of Hermione Company, No. 19, U. R. K. P., entertained the ladies at their armory in Pythian hall. There was a fine drill under command of Capt. William V. Leech. Addresses were made by Major Gilkeson and Captain Rook.

About 50 were present. Guests of honor were: Mrs. Rook, Mrs. Wetline, Mrs. Vansant, Mrs. Bickel, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Neely, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Walter Hall, Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. Wessau, Mrs. Weiks, Mrs. Akers, Mrs. Bruden, Mrs. Ridge, Miss L. Wright, Miss McMullen, Miss Lund, Misses Stevenson.

Chairman of entertainment committee, Lieut. L. C. Wetting; chairman of stewards, Sgt. H. T. W. Bickel.

Cardinal Gibbons will ordain to the priesthood next Saturday, Andrew J. McCue, of Bristol, in the Cathedral at Philadelphia. First Holy Mass will be celebrated in St. Mark's Church, Bristol, on Sunday next.

A movement has been started among the teachers and scholars of Bristol's public school, to raise funds for placing a brass or stone tablet in the high school building, as a memorial of the former efficient principal, Miss Mathilda S. Booz, the first woman superintendent of public schools in Bucks county.

A Summary of The News

ing of the National Assembly today with the minor parties represented. Passage this week of the European aid bill by the House of Representatives was predicted in Washington. Secretary of State Marshall, the primary architect of the aid program, left for the inter-American conference in Bogota.

It was accepted in Frankfurt on the Main that some leading political personalities in the bi-zonal administration would accompany the Military Government delegation to the conference on the European Recovery Program.

In the field of strengthening the American military forces, Washington indicated that the Senate Armed Services Committee would report favorably on the re-institution of selective service. Favorable action by both houses on the draft was held likely, but the adoption of universal military training was regarded as doubtful.

Tells How Third World War Can Be Avoided

How a third world war can be avoided was told to Trenton, N. J., Rotary Club members at a meeting in the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton, on Wednesday, when Dr. Walter Mohr, professor of history at George School, Newtown, spoke.

The first step, he said, is to reorganize industrial Germany and get it working again.

The second is to keep the United States economy steady. We must demonstrate, he declared, that an unregulated economy can work and will not collapse. Communists, Dr. Mohr said, have made their greatest gains in Germany by propaganda that America will soon have a depression which will force her to abandon her world-wide commitments. Dr. Mohr returned last Fall from a year in the industrial Ruhr of Germany where he supervised relief activities carried on by the American Friends Service Committee. The sight of an industrial civilization in ruins staggers the imagination, he said. A comparable sight in the United States would be to have the area from Pittsburgh to Gary, Ind., completely paralyzed. The question asked most of him in Germany, Dr. Mohr said, concerned the long range policies of the United States. Germans all wanted to know whether America would continue to play a world role or return to her former isolationism. Your paper Want Ads convert "Dust Gatherers" into cash.

The two Presidential vetoes make strange reading after the passage of time. None of the disasters and dissensions which the President predicted if the provisions were made into law has happened. Many of them sound decidedly silly now.

The two messages were much different in tone. The Case Bill veto was friendly towards Congress, almost apologetic. It started out on the basis that the bill "was undoubtedly passed by the members of the Congress in the sincere belief that it would remedy certain existing conditions which cause labor strife and produce domestic turmoil." But it objected to the provisions of the proposed law on the grounds they had been assembled "piecemeal" and "hastily." He wanted, he said, a law that had been "studied with infinite care."

The tone of the Taft-Hartley veto was arrogant and hysterical—quite out of harmony with the calm-mannered Case Bill veto. What the President did in this document was to seize upon the labor-boss assertion that this was a "slave labor bill," and sermonize on that theme for several thousand words.

The Bill, the President said, "contains the seeds of discord." "Its provisions would cause more strikes, not fewer." "I find that the bill violates principles essential to our public welfare."

Yet the Bill became law. It attracted much more support than opposition from the President's Democratic Party. It won the public's strong endorsement when made a test in this Congressional District. And labor union members themselves, when canvassed by straw polls on its main provisions, supported them two to one.

Despite half-hearted enforcement of the law under the Truman Administration, it has produced the nearest semblance to labor peace known in the stormy three years of the Truman regime.

And now the President himself is using it to quell a new rash of wide and dangerous strikes! Both the Case and Taft-Hartley Bills relied on injunctions to compel unruly union leaders to refrain from acts contrary to the public welfare.

In vetoing the Case Bill, the President gave as one of his reasons the argument that it "largely repeals the Norris-LaGuardia Act"—which is the New Deal statute that took labor unions almost entirely out from under injunctions. He defended the exemption of labor unions from injunction in all cases except in strikes against the Government itself.

No one contends, of course, that the soft-coal miners are working for the Government, nor that their strike is against the Government. The inconsistency of the President's previous words and present policy is obvious.

In the instance of the Taft-Hartley veto, the President said of the exact clause now being invoked against the miners:

"This procedure would be certain to do more harm than good, and to increase rather than diminish widespread industrial disturbances."

Yet he himself now finds the injunction provision very convenient!

It would be most interesting to know whether the President still feels, as he said he did on June 20, 1947, that the Taft-Hartley Act "is a clear threat to the successful working of our democratic society."

It will be equally interesting, now that he himself has fallen back on the Taft-Hartley Act as a handy way of getting out of a labor jam, to see whether he is going to run for re-election on the plank of "repeal the Taft-Hartley Law!"

MEDICAL CARE

HARRISBURG (INS)—Almost 900 veterans suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis are receiving the latest surgical and medical aids in veterans administration hospitals, according to the veterans administration. Many of these ex-servicemen are patients at the VA tuberculosis center at Butler, Pa. Others are hospitalized at various "TB" hospitals under contract. A few are patients at Army and Navy hospitals near their homes. These institutions have allocated beds to VA for the purpose.

They say they are being "driven to bankruptcy by all the drives going on." They see "more money-raisers than customers" every day. They think "too many people are trying to take" them before Uncle Sam gets his every quarter.

Statistics on how many weeks have been set aside for this or that are not available, but the number must run above 52 when two and even three run concurrently, as they do sometimes. Many of the setter-asides have good causes to forward, beyond any doubt, but the idea has been run into the ground by repetition and competition and the objects of all these efforts have been run ragged. The Douglasites have a legitimate complaint.

So a lot of others in the same boat would like to cooperate in a national "Leave Us Alone Week." It would be a welcome relief to have at least one week when no solicitors would call for a contribution and no organization would remind editors, for the sake of publicity, that this is national nothing-or-other week.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Dec. 9, 1897. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

About a week ago work was begun by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to erect a handsome new station at Morrisville, just above the present old building. The freight depot will be located two blocks above the passenger station beyond the coal yard.

The large signal bridge at the Walnut street crossing, spanning six of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's tracks, was erected in just three minutes this week. The work was done by a large hoisting engine placed on a covered flat car rigged up in Bristol especially for the erection of these bridges for automatic signals, of which there will be a large number placed between Holmesburg junction and Monmouth Junction. The average distance apart will be about 5% of a mile. They will do away with 12 signal stations and 24 telegraph operators between these points. It is expected that the operators will be dispensed with at Wheatshaf, Tyburn, Cold Spring and Landreth's, Crofton and Torresdale.

At the regular meeting of Tullytown borough council held on last Monday evening, a vote was taken on the bridge ordinance, allowing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to erect a high wagon bridge over the tracks at Tullytown, about 20 feet north of the present station. The ordinance was passed by just a two-thirds vote. The ayes were John Burton, president; A. R. Wagonknight, John Carmen, William H. Dunk, Charles Carlen, Henry Lovett. The nays, Dr. C. H. Read, Dr. William Tallman and William Barrett. The ordinance has been handed to A. Brock Shoemaker the burgess, for his signature.

A team of mules, belonging to the Lehigh Coal and Navigator Company, which was attached to a boat in charge of Capt. John Stone, while coming down the canal near Erwinna on last Thursday evening, became frightened and jumped into the canal and was drowned.

The two Presidential vetoes make strange reading after the passage of time. None of the disasters and dissensions which the President predicted if the provisions were made into law has happened. Many of them sound decidedly silly now.

The two messages were much different in tone. The Case Bill veto was friendly towards Congress, almost apologetic. It started out on the basis that the bill "was undoubtedly passed by the members of the Congress in the sincere belief that it would remedy certain existing conditions which cause labor strife and produce domestic turmoil." But it objected to the provisions of the proposed law on the grounds they had been assembled "piecemeal" and "hastily." He wanted, he said, a law that had been "studied with infinite care."

The tone of the Taft-Hartley veto was arrogant and hysterical—quite out of harmony with the calm-mannered Case Bill veto. What the President did in this document was to seize upon the labor-boss assertion that this was a "slave labor bill," and sermonize on that theme for several thousand words.

The Bill, the President said, "contains the seeds of discord." "Its provisions would cause more strikes, not fewer." "I find that the bill violates principles essential to our public welfare."

Yet the Bill became law. It attracted much more support than opposition from the President's Democratic Party. It won the public's strong endorsement when made a test in this Congressional District. And labor union members themselves, when canvassed by straw polls on its main provisions, supported them two to one.

Despite half-hearted enforcement of the law under the Truman Administration, it has produced the nearest semblance to labor peace known in the stormy three years of the Truman regime.

And now the President himself is using it to quell a new rash of wide and dangerous strikes!

Both the Case and Taft-Hartley Bills relied on injunctions to compel unruly union leaders to refrain from acts contrary to the public welfare.

In vetoing the Case Bill, the President gave as one of his reasons the argument that it "largely repeals the Norris-LaGuardia Act"—which is the New Deal statute that took labor unions almost entirely out from under injunctions. He defended the exemption of labor unions from injunction in all cases except in strikes against the Government itself.

No one contends, of course, that the soft-coal miners are working for the Government, nor that their strike is against the Government. The inconsistency of the President's previous words and present policy is obvious.

In the instance of the Taft-Hartley veto, the President said of the exact clause now being invoked against the miners:

"This procedure would be certain to do more harm than good, and to increase rather than diminish widespread industrial disturbances."

Yet he himself now finds the injunction provision very convenient!

It would be most interesting to know whether the President still feels, as he said he did on June 20, 1947, that the Taft-Hartley Act "is a clear threat to the successful working of our democratic society."

It will be equally interesting, now that he himself has fallen back on the Taft-Hartley Act as a handy way of getting out of a labor jam, to see whether he is going to run for re-election on the plank of "repeal the Taft-Hartley Law!"

MEDICAL CARE

HARRISBURG (INS) — Almost 900 veterans suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis are receiving the latest surgical and medical aids in veterans administration hospitals, according to the veterans administration. Many of these ex-servicemen are patients at the VA tuberculosis center at Butler, Pa. Others are hospitalized at various "TB" hospitals under contract. A few are patients at Army and Navy hospitals near their homes. These institutions have allocated beds to VA for the purpose.

ing of the National Assembly today with the minor parties represented. Passage this week of the European aid bill by the House of Representatives was predicted in Washington. Secretary of State Marshall, the primary architect of the aid program, left for the inter-American conference in Bogota.

It was accepted in Frankfurt on the Main that some leading political personalities in the bi-zonal administration would accompany the Military Government delegation to the conference on the European Recovery Program.

In the field of strengthening the American military forces, Washington indicated that the Senate Armed Services Committee would report favorably on the re-institution of selective service. Favorable action by both houses on the draft was held likely, but the adoption of universal military training was regarded as doubtful.

On Thursday evening, Dec. 9, the members of Hermione Company, No. 10, U. R. K. P., entertained the ladies at their armory in Pythian hall. There was a fine drill under command of Capt. William V. Leech. Addresses were made by Major Gilkeson and Captain Rook.

About 50 were present. Guests of honor were: Mrs. Rook, Mrs. Wetline, Mrs. Vansant, Mrs. Bickel, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Neely, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Walter Hall, Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. Wessau, Mrs. Welks, Mrs. Akers, Mrs. Bruden, Mrs. Ridge, Miss L. Wright, Miss McMullen, Miss Lund, Misses Stevenson.

Chairman of entertainment committee, Lieut. L. C. Wetling; chairman of stewards, Sgt. H. T. W. Bickel.

Cardinal Gibbons will ordain to the priesthood next Saturday, Andrew J. McCue, of Bristol, in the Cathedral at Philadelphia. First Holy Mass will be celebrated in St. Mark's Church, Bristol, on Sunday next.

A movement has been started among the teachers and scholars of Bristol's public school, to raise funds for placing a brass or stone tablet in the high school building, as a memorial of the former efficient principal, Miss Mathilda S. Booz, the first woman superintendent of public schools in Bucks county.

Tells How Third World War Can Be Avoided

How a third world war can be avoided was told to Trenton, N. J., Rotary Club members at a meeting in the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton, on Wednesday, when Dr. Walter Mohr, professor of history at George School, Newtown, spoke.

The first step, he said, is to reorganize industrial Germany and get it working again.

The second is to keep the United States economy steady. We must demonstrate, he declared, that an unregulated economy can work and will not collapse. Communists, Dr. Mohr said, have made their greatest gains in Germany by propaganda that America will soon have a depression which will force her to abandon her world-wide commitments.

Dr. Mohr returned last Fall from a year in the industrial Ruhr of Germany where he supervised relief activities carried on by the American Friends Service Committee.

The sight of an industrial civilization in ruins staggers the imagination, he said. A comparable sight in the United States would be to have the area from Pittsburgh to Gary, Ind., completely paralyzed.

The question asked most of him in Germany, Dr. Mohr said, concerned the long range policies of the United States. Germans all wanted to know whether America would continue to play a world role or return to her former isolationism.

the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and before do not conform to the terms of the Atomic Energy Commission.

a scorching opinion that under Soviet control scheme there of easily be evasion of controls extensive clandestine production of atom weapons by one nation on aggression against the rs. Miles pointed out that lack enforcement of such a control would result in "false security."

he four representatives exclusively analyzed the Russian point by point disclosed defects.

he report goes on to note with surprise that the Soviet Union commitments to an atomic control treaty even if all nations agree to destroy and outlaw weapons beforehand.

ties summarized the grounds rejection of the Soviet proposals follows:

The Soviet proposals are not an acceptable basis for the control of atomic energy.

The U. N. Atomic Energy Commission cannot endorse any scheme which would not prevent the diversion of atomic material, which provides no effective means for the detection of clandestine activities and which has no provision for prompt effective enforcement action.

The Soviet government has not proposed a scheme that is fundamentally inadequate for the control of atomic energy, but at the time has made the over-riding objection that they will not agree to establish even such a feeble scheme of control until all atomic weapons have been prohibited and destroyed.

It is completely unrealistic to expect any nation to renounce atomic weapons without any assurance that all nations will be prevented from producing them."

Another Hearing Planned in Case

Theophilus John Minton Syphax, but had his name changed by a court.

The stricken attorney told Blessing that he "never got a nickel" or asked for anything from his wealthy grandfather.

Blessing quoted McKee as saying: "He was not a man you could ask for money. He was a pretty tough old boy — a fine man, but when money matters came around he was like that."

Further testimony in the McKee story came from Edgar Johnson Dibble, a Stamford, Conn., insurance broker, who has office space with McKee in the same suite in a William street building, New York.

Dibble first recalled the days when he and McKee were college classmates. McKee, it was testified, attended Phillips Exeter Academy for two years, was graduated from Trinity College in 1903, attended Berkeley Divinity School for a year and then went to Columbia Law School, where he got his degree in 1907. While at Trinity he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, played foot ball and was a track athlete.

Dibble told of his friendship with McKee lasting from college days for more than 40 years. Never in all that time, he testified, was McKee "known as a colored man."

The self-described heirs to the estate are claiming the money on the ground that it was impossible to use it for the purpose described in Colonel McKee's will. This was to establish a school for orphan boys in Bucks county, after the death of the last of the McKee grandchildren.

PARISH MEETING

MORRISVILLE, Mar. 29.—At the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation at 7.30 this evening the annual parish meeting will take place. The rector, the Rev. W. T. Warren, Jr., will officiate.

Reports will be given by all church organizations and election of four vestrymen and a parish treasurer and warden take place.

Members of the Alice G. Stockham Society will serve dessert and coffee following the meeting. Mrs. Earl Barber and Mrs. John Heehan are co-chairman of the group serving.

Assisted by Mrs. Robert Bullock, Mrs. Lela Godwin, Mrs. Fred McGowan, Sr., Mrs. William T. Warren, Jr., Mrs. John Briggs, Mrs. E. Leonard, Mrs. Frank Lorimer, Mrs. John Condon, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. James Dorsey, Mrs. Mercer Pauk, Mrs. Eugene Kurtz, Mrs. Royce Haines and Mrs. Joseph P. Clark.

New instruments have been received and new uniforms are on order and will be presented to public view on Memorial Day. "It is hoped that all parents will respond to this invitation and be present at the meeting," say post officers.

A rookie or beginners section is being formed and the post bugle corps committee asks that parents having sons 11 years of age desiring to enroll, present or send them to the post any Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, with a note to meet Committee Chairman Downing and Commander Straccio.

The Rev. N. Herbert Caley, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, will conduct the service at the Horner funeral home, here, this afternoon at four o'clock. The body will be forwarded to Spokane, Wash., for burial.

Parents of Cadets To Meet at Bracken Post

In order to acquaint parents of members of its Cadet Corps, Bracken Post of the American Legion, through its officers and officers of the Corps, has invited parents of Cadets to meet in the post home at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening.

This corps is said to be the oldest such musical organization in the national organization of the American Legion. "It has a glorious past and the future looks very bright under the direction of Commander Straccio and Musical Director Robert Cotter, as well as a very active post committee, headed by Past Commander Downing. Mr. Cotter is well qualified for this work as he is not only a high school musical director, but the instructor of several nationally known senior corps," post officials announce.

Deafened Now Hear With Tiny Single Unit

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 14, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Write Beltone today. (Advertisement)

Easter Week-End Nuptial Ceremony Is of Interest

An Easter week-end wedding of interest here was that of Miss Florence R. Downing, daughter of Mrs. William Downing, 559 Bath street, and Mr. Robert D. Harman, son of Mr. Benjamin Harman, Sr., Spruce street.

The ceremony was solemnized at the hour of two on Saturday afternoon in Harriman Methodist Church. The Rev. William Carroll, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Downing, Jr. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. William Carroll.

A white gabardine suit, navy blue and white hat, navy slippers, and white gloves comprised the bridal costume. The former Miss Downing carried a nose-gay, which included a lavender orchid and white roses.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Paul Vandegrift, Second avenue, a sister, was attired in a navy blue dress, blue and white hat and accessories. Her nose-gay was composed of red and white carnations.

Mr. Benjamin Harman, Jr., of Garden street, attended his brother as best man.

A small reception followed at the home of the best man, after which the newly weds left for three days trip to Washington, D. C. They will make their home at 813 Garden street.

The bride is a graduate of Bristol high school. The bride-groom served in the U. S. Army for five and one-half years at the time of World War II.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Charles H. Weller
Pastor
Bristol Methodist Church

Dear Lord and Father of mankind, forgive the feverish and foolish ways of men, the evil thoughts and deeds which make possible the crucifixion of the saviors of our race. Once more we have become conscious of Thy great love revealed at Calvary, and of our unworthiness. Faith has been reborn and fear and doubts are dissolved. On this high plane of faith help us to live the days that are before us. Keep us from falling into the errors of greed and selfishness that have so often obscured the divine image in us. Amen.

party, Thursday evening, given for benefit of the degree team of Lily Rebekah Lodge. There were nine tables of pinocle players, and prizes for high scores went to: Mrs. Earl Mullin, 747; Mrs. Beacie Campbell, 722; Harry Goheen, 713; Margaret Swangler, 710; Mrs. Allen Barr, 710; Elizabeth Hinman, 709. Mrs. John Buck won the door prize. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wren and family have moved from Taft street to Miami, Fla.

John Arena, Radcliffe street, sailed on Wednesday for Italy.

ANDALUSIA

John Kidd underwent a back operation in Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, on Friday. He was admitted to that hospital last Monday, and not Nazareth Hospital, as erroneously reported.

Miss Jean Edelman is in Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, where she underwent an appendectomy on Friday.

The Rev. August Piscator, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, and John Brenner, Philadelphia, were Good Friday guests of Mrs. Emma Geissel.

Several friends of Mrs. Howard Belden surprised her on Friday afternoon with a handkerchief shower, in honor of her birthday anniversary. The guests included Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. Wesley Brownell, Mrs. Russell Lorimer and Mrs. Harry Richardson. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham motored to New York, N. Y., on Friday.

Little "Judy" Belden is still confined to her bed by illness.

Easter Week-End Nuptial Ceremony Is of Interest

An Easter week-end wedding of interest here was that of Miss Florence R. Downing, daughter of Mrs. William Downing, 559 Bath street, and Mr. Robert D. Harman, son of Mr. Benjamin Harman, Sr., Spruce street.

The ceremony was solemnized at the hour of two on Saturday afternoon in Harriman Methodist Church. The Rev. William Carroll, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Downing, Jr. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. William Carroll.

A white gabardine suit, navy blue and white hat, navy slippers, and white gloves comprised the bridal costume. The former Miss Downing carried a nose-gay, which included a lavender orchid and white roses.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Paul Vandegrift, Second avenue, a sister, was attired in a navy blue dress, blue and white hat and accessories. Her nose-gay was composed of red and white carnations.

Mr. Benjamin Harman, Jr., of Garden street, attended his brother as best man.

A small reception followed at the home of the best man, after which the newly weds left for three days trip to Washington, D.C. They will make their home at 813 Garden street.

The bride is a graduate of Bristol high school. The bride-groom served in the U. S. Army for five and one-half years at the time of World War II.

In a Personal Way

INTERESTING items of news mainly about people you know. A chronicle of the activities of the people of Bristol; their goings and comings.

To arrange for publication of weddings, telephone The Bristol Courier, Bristol 816, notifying at least a few days in advance the date of ceremony.

Engagement announcements must be submitted in writing.

Mrs. J. Fairchild and Miss Rhoda Saxton, Taft street, left on Thursday to visit relatives and friends at Williamsport. Miss Saxton will return on Sunday. Mrs. Fairchild will remain for a week.

Mr. Mary Brown, McKinley street, is spending a few days with Miss Lois Crane, Boston, Mass.

Miss Dorothy Giltner, Wood street, is spending a few days visiting relatives at Pottsville.

Mrs. Fredrick Featherstone and sons Ronald and Robert, East Circle, spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mrs. Featherstone's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Leach, Audubon, N. J.

Mrs. Catherine Bewley, Morrisville, is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woolman, Locust street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kershaw, Swain street, were hosts at a card

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Charles H. Weller
Pastor
Bristol Methodist Church

Dear Lord and Father of mankind, forgive the feverish and foolish ways of men, the evil thoughts and deeds which make possible the crucifixion of the saviors of our race. Once more we have become conscious of Thy great love revealed at Calvary, and of our unworthiness. Faith has been reborn and fear and doubts are dissolved. On this high plane of faith help us to live the days that are before us. Keep us from falling into the errors of greed and selfishness that have so often obscured the divine image in us. Amen.

party, Thursday evening, given for benefit of the degree team of Lily Rebekah Lodge. There were nine tables of pinocle players, and prizes for high scores went to: Mrs. Earl Mullin, 717; Mrs. Bessie Campbell, 722; Harry Goheen, 713; Margaret Swangler, 710; Mrs. Allen Barr, 710; Elizabeth Hinman, 709. Mrs. John Buck won the door prize. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wren and family have moved from Taft street to Miami, Fla.

John Arena, Radcliffe street, sailed on Wednesday for Italy.

It costs you money every time you don't read Want Ads in the Courier.

ANDALUSIA

John Kidd underwent a back operation in Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, on Friday. He was admitted to that hospital last Monday, and not Nazareth Hospital, as erroneously reported.

Miss Jean Edelman is in Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, where she underwent an appendectomy on Friday.

The Rev. August Piscator, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, and John Brenner, Philadelphia, were Good Friday guests of Mrs. Emma Gelsel.

Several friends of Mrs. Howard Belden surprised her on Friday afternoon with a handkerchief shower, in honor of her birthday anniversary. The guests included Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. Wesley Brownell, Mrs. Russell Lorimer and Mrs. Harry Richardson. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham motored to New York, N. Y., on Friday.

Little "Judy" Belden is still confined to her bed by illness.

TOURNAMENT TO OPEN TONIGHT ON H. S. FLOOR

GOLD MEDAL TOURNAMENT

Schedule for Tonight
NEWTON COMETS vs. FRANKLIN A. C. vs. MORRISVILLE BOYS CLUB
CARLIN A. A. vs. PARKWAY INN

Everything is in readiness for the Gold Medal Tournament which opens tonight with three games being played on the high school floor. First game will get under way at 7 o'clock.

The tournament, limited to 13 teams, is being announced by the Bristol High School Athletic Association and the manager is Coach "Jerry" Bloom, of the Warriors. The 13 teams hail from Lower Bucks county and Trenton.

There are two Trenton teams, Carlin A. A. and the Trenton Gorman, Carlin, managed by Thomas Gorman, is picked to win the New Jersey Youth Basketball Tournament and has in its lineup Thomas Kelly, Thomas Cummings, William Mayer, James Ryan, William Applegate, Robert Handley, Thomas Bransfield, Joseph O'Brien, Richard DeSandra and Francis Rutkowski.

The Friars is composed of youth who attend the Trenton Catholic high school. It is managed by Dick Little. Its players are: John Merkel, Ellis Funari, Joseph Fox, James Haggerty, James Howarth, Charles Harcar, Frank Reez, John Sebek, Paul Harcar and Edward Binke.

Two Morrisville teams are in the tournament, they being handled by Dave Talone and "Vince" DeBronze. The Morrisville Boys Club will meet Franklin A. C. tonight in the second game. The "Whiz Boys," managed by DeBronze, is composed of Jim Walsh, Fred Raccosta, Jack Walsh, John Marucci, Tom Gavin, Bob Pugh, Ray Johnson, Ronald Coombs and Paul Fischer.

"Sage" Sagolla, coach of Council Rock high school, Newtown, has entered the Newtown Comets into the tournament, his lineup being: Charles Woodworth, Ted Miller, Charles Minsch, Laurence Hauler, Kinzo Yamamoto, Ervin Hutchins, Leroy Johnson, Russell Morris, Robert Titus and Edward Lang.

There is a Bristol Township contingent in the tournament while the remainder are from the borough of Bristol, namely: Keystone Oilers, Parkway Inn, Franklin, Bristol Methodist Boys Club, Bristol Falcons, Penn A. C. and Harriman.

The Keystone Oilers, who beat out Franklin to win the Bristol Youth League crown, was one of the last teams to enter. It is managed by Joe Cauti and its lineup consists of: Joseph Rago, Michael Tannucci, Walt MacDonald, Jasper Ferraro, Vic Cauti, Dan Paul, Vince Genco, Alfred Mancini, Richard Addeo and Robert Hutchison.

Three trophies and 71 individual awards will be made. A beautiful championship team trophy will be given to the championship, runner-up and their place teams. Ten gold charms will be given to the members of the winning team, ten silver charms to the second place winners, and ten bronze charms to the third place winners.

Five special gold all-tourney charms will be given to the players picked on the first all-tourney team; five in silver to those picked on the second team, and five in bronze to those picked on the third team.

Beautiful Medals of Merit will be awarded to the five outstanding players on teams defeated in their game of the tourney and to be awarded to players selected on any of the three all-tourney teams.

A high-point medal will be given to the player making the highest number of points in the entire tournament and also one to the player making the highest number of points in a single game.

A gold medal will be given to the best sportsman of the tournament.

The player making the most "spectacular" shot of the tournament will be given the "dead shot" medal and an "Award of Merit" medal will be given to the player who is the coolest under fire.

The highest award of the tournament will be the gold medal, which will be given to the outstanding player of the tournament. The player picked will be the Lower Bucks county candidate to the 1948 All-American selection. Second choice of outstanding player will receive a silver medal, while the third choice will get the Bronze Medal of Honor.

Medals will also be given to the player making the "longest shot," one who makes the second highest number of points in a single game and he who makes the second highest number of points in the tournament.

In the first game on the card for tonight, the Newtown Comets will meet the Bristol Township team. The second contest will see Franklin in action against the Morrisville Boys Club, while in the nightcap of the triple-header, Carlin A. A. meets Parkway Inn.

The tournament will continue tomorrow night with Harriman meeting the Morrisville Whizz Kids in the third game, the Trenton Friars stacking up against the Keystone Oilers in the opener, while in the second game, the Falcons meeting the Penn A. C.

The Bristol Methodist Boys Club drew a bye for the opening round and will meet the winners of the Bristol Township-Newtown game in the first game Thursday night.

Games will continue on Friday night while the final round will be staged on Saturday night.

The committee in charge of the tournament, in addition to Coach Bloom, is composed of: Harry McClister, Henry Morgan, John Dougherty, George Perkins, Horace Jefferies, Benjamin Watson, Devon Smith, Thomas Juno, Carman Mignoni, William Pearson and Walter Rosser.

It has been announced that tickets for the games may be purchased for individual games or for the entire tournament. Horace Jefferies is in charge of the financial arrangements.

Judges, who will pick the players who win the medals, have been selected, but their names are being withheld.

PRACTICE TONIGHT
Fifth Ward Sporting Club will conduct baseball practice on Bristol Memorial Park field this evening at 5.30. All interested are asked to be present.

TOURNAMENT TO OPEN TONIGHT ON H. S. FLOOR

GOLD MEDAL TOURNAMENT
Schedule for Tonight
NEWTON COMETS vs. BRISTOL TOWNSHIP
FRANKLIN A. C. vs. MORRISVILLE BOYS CLUB
CARLIN A. A. vs. PARKWAY INN

Everything is in readiness for the Gold Medal Tournament which opens tonight with three games being played on the high school floor. First game will get under way at 7 o'clock.

The tournament, limited to 13 teams, is being announced by the Bristol High School Athletic Association and the manager is Coach "Jerry" Bloom, of the Warriors. The 13 teams hall from Lower Bucks county and Trenton.

There are two Trenton teams: Carlin A. A. and the Trenton Friars. Carlin, managed by Thomas Gorman, is picked to win the New Jersey Youth Basketball Tournament and has in its lineup Thomas Kelly, Thomas Cummings, William Mayer, James Ryan, William Applegate, Robert Handley, Thomas Bransfield, Joseph O'Brien, Richard DeSandra and Francis Rutkowski.

The Friars is composed of youth who attend the Trenton Catholic high school. It is managed by Dick Littler. Its players are: John Merkel, Ellis Funari, Joseph Fox, James Hargerty, James Howarth, Charles Harcar, Frank Reez, John Schibek, Paul Harcar and Edward Blinke.

Two Morrisville teams are in the tournament, they being handled by Dave Talone and "Vince" DeBronze. The Morrisville Boys Club will meet Franklin A. C. tonight in the second game. The "Whiz Boys," managed by DeBronze, is composed of Jim Walsh, Fred Raccosta, Jack Walsh, John Marucci, Tom Gavin, Bob Pugh, Ray Johnson, Ronald Coombs and Paul Filscher.

"Sags" Sagolla, coach of Council Rock high school, Newtown, has entered the Newtown Comets into the tournament, his lineup being: Charles Woodworth, Ted Miller, Charles Minsch, Laurence Hauler, Kinzo Yamamoto, Ervin Hutching, Leroy Johnson, Russell Morris, Robert Titus and Edward Lang.

There is a Bristol Township contingent in the tournament while the remainder are from the borough of Bristol, namely: Keystone Oilers, Parkway Inn, Franklin, Bristol Methodist Boys Club, Bristol Falcons, Penn A. C. and Harriman.

The Keystone Oilers, who beat out Franklin to win the Bristol Youth League crown, was one of the last teams to enter. It is managed by Joe Cauti and its lineup consists of: Joseph Rago, Michael Iannucci, Walt MacDonald, Jasper Ferraro, Vic Cauti, Dan Paul, Vince Genco, Alfred Mancini, Richard Addeo and Robert Hutchison.

Three trophies and 71 individual awards will be made. A beautiful championship team trophy will be given to the championship, runner-up and their place teams. Ten gold charms will be given to the members of the winning team, ten silver charms to the second place winners and ten bronze charms to the third place winners.

Five special gold all-tourney charms will be given to the players picked on the first all-tourney teams; five in silver to those picked on the second team, and five in bronze to those picked on the third team.

Beautiful Medals of Merit will be awarded to the five outstanding players on teams defeated in their game of the tourney and to be awarded to players selected on any of the three all-tourney teams.

A high-point medal will be given to the player making the highest number of points in the entire tournament and also one to the player making the highest number of points in a single game.

A gold medal will be given to the best sportsman of the tournament.

The player making the most "spectacular" shot of the tournament will be given the "dead shot" medal and an "Award of Merit" medal will be given to the player who is the coolest under fire.

The highest award of the tournament will be the gold medal, which will be given to the outstanding player of the tournament. The player picked will be the Lower Bucks county candidate to the 1948 All-American selection. Second choice of outstanding player will receive a silver medal, while the third choice will get the Bronze Medal of Honor.

Medals will also be given to the player making the "longest shot," one who makes the second highest number of points in a single game and he who makes the second highest number of points in the tournament.

In the first game on the card for tonight, the Newtown Comets will meet the Bristol Township team. The second contest will see Franklin in action against the Morrisville Boys Club, while in the nightcap of the triple-header, Carlin A. A. meets Parkway Inn.

The tournament will continue tomorrow night with Harriman meeting the Morrisville Whiz Kids in the third game, the Trenton Friars stacking up against the Keystone Oilers in the opener, while in the second game, the Falcons meeting the Penn A. C.

The Bristol Methodist Boys Club drew a bye for the opening round and will meet the winners of the Bristol Township-Newtown game in the first game Thursday night.

Games will continue on Friday night while the final round will be staged on Saturday night.

The committee in charge of the tournament, in addition to Coach Bloom, is composed of: Harry McClister, Henry Morgan, John Dougherty, George Perkins, Horace Jefferies, Benjamin Watson, Devon Smith, Thomas Juno, Carman Mignoni, William Pearson and Walter Rosser.

It has been announced that tickets

for the games may be purchased for individual games or for the entire tournament. Horace Jefferies is in charge of the financial arrangements.

Judges, who will pick the players who win the medals, have been selected, but their names are being withheld.

PRACTICE TONIGHT
Fifth Ward Sporting Club will conduct baseball practice on Bristol Memorial Park field this evening at 5.30. All interested are asked to be present.
